Legislators and Officials Aid in Annual Celebration.

Denies That Man Who Writes His Speeches Is Dead-Mr. Boldt Wants New Local Option Law.

They were all at the thirty-third annual dinner of the Hotel Association of New York City at the Waldorf-Astoria last night, from J. Ross Underwood, manager of the old Astor House, to Thomas M. Hil-Hard, manager of the about-to-be-opened a few hotel men from out of town. In addition there was a scattering of legislators to create a characteristic memorial and been heard once in New York nine years Brooklyn, down to several recently installed aldermen, and no matter where one turned one was certain of coming face to face with either a police magistrate, a fustice of Special Sessions or a General Sessions judge or a Supreme Court justice. But missing from the groups of officials w re Police Commissioner Waldo and Sheriff Julius Harburger. It was said that the latter was at home looking up some old laws, hoping to find something to warrant his disagreeing with his legal adviser as to the appointing of women as special deputy sheriffs.

Yet everybody was happy. Simeon Ford, of the Grand Union, was there to cheer them with his latest scintillations. He delivered a speech which he alleged was his MEMORIALS FOR J. J. HOGAN Plans for Yale Scholarship and a Monument Completed.

New Haven, Jan. 4 (Special).-Memorial plans for James J. Hogan, the former Yale athlete, who died a year ago while he was Deputy Street Cleaning Commissioner of New York City, have taken the form of a university scholarship and a large monument in the Catholic cemetery in Torrington, Hogan's home town. The monument will be erected by his Yale classmates. It will be 16 feet high and 6 feet square at the base. A contract for its erection has just been placed.

The Hogan memorial scholarship has ti been announced by the university corporation. It will be awarded annually to some undergraduate who shows merit in scholarship and character. The same type of student as Hegan will be sought in making the award. The scholarship amounts to $5.000, and its income will be given to the holder. It was raised among members of the juntor fraternity, Delta Kappa Epsilon, to which Hogan belonged,
